'House Asks Ike For Budget Cut "Tips"

Unique Demo Proposal Gets 219-178 Vote

Republicans Argue
Resolution Amounts
To "Buck Passing"

WASHINGTON, March 12 (P)—Over almost solid Republican opposition, the House tonight asked President Eisenhower to point out where "substantial reductions" can be made in his record peace-time budget.

It sent the President a resolution saying his $71,800,000,000 budget must be cut "in the public interest," and requesting him to "indicate the places and amounts in his budget where he thinks substantial reductions may best be made."

The resolution was passed by roll-call vote of 219-178.

Voting for the measure were 10 Republicans and 209 Democrats. Opposed were 175 Republicans and 3 Democrats.

The resolution does not go to the Senate since it is merely an expression of House opinion. Eisenhower doesn't have to sign it nor does he have to pay any attention to it. It has no binding legal effect.

Republican Counter - Move

Its passage had been fore-shadowed a few hours earlier when the House voted to call up the resolution for immediate debate.

Republicans proposed to send the resolution back to committee but this move was defeated 214-185 just before the final vote on passage.

In an apparent effort to offset the House action, the conference of Republican senators unanimously approved tonight a resolution calling on Congress to cut President Eisenhower's budget "wherever possible consistent with the security of national defense."

Chairman Saltonstall of Massachusetts announced after a closed meeting that the resolution was for the "guidance" of Republican members. He said more than half the 47 GOP senators attended the meeting at which it was adopted.

GOP Charges "Buck Passing"

The resolution was framed speedily as the House debated.

In their resolution, the Republican senators said they are "in accord with the President's recommendation that the Congress reduce the budget wherever possible." Eisenhower has said it is Congress' duty to cut his proposed spending outlays if it can.

The Democratic-sponsored resolution approved by the House was without precedent.

Republicans argued it amounted to "buck passing" by Congress and an abdication of responsibility.

Democrats contended it was necessary because Eisenhower and some others high in the administration had suggested the budget could be cut but didn't say where.

Bills To Honor Key Offered In Congress

WASHINGTON, March 12 (P)—Maryland's two senators and two of its seven congressmen introduced legislation in Congress today to permit the American flag to be flown continuously at the birthplace and grave of Francis Scott Key.

Sens. Butler and Beall and Reps. Devereux and Hyde, all (R-Md) are sponsors of the proposal. Bills were introduced simultaneously in the House and Senate.

The author of "The Star-Spangled Banner" was born at the "Terra Rubra" estate in Carroll County, which is in Devereux's district, and is buried in Mount Olivet Cemetery in Frederick, in Hyde's district.

Some Records Gone, Teamster Official Reports

Documents Had Been Sought By Rackets Probe

WASHINGTON, March 12 (P)—A top official of the Teamsters Union in Oregon acknowledged to the Senate rackets committee today that some union records sought by the committee have been destroyed.

"I think there are some records of invoice and canceled check status that have been destroyed," said Clyde C. Crosby, the union's international organizer in Oregon.

But Crosby said he would be "disturbed" if he found that all the books and records had been disposed of.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, has said the senators are "vitally interested" in what the documents contain. An unsuccessful attempt to subpoena them was made last month.

Under questioning, Crosby testified he didn't "know for sure" whether the records of Teamsters Union Joint Council 37 from mid-1954 onward had been destroyed.

Union, Gamblers Linked

Kennedy said this was the period when Tom Maloney and Joe McLaughlin, two Seattle gamblers, were associated with union officials in Portland, Ore. Witnesses have alleged Maloney and McLaughlin were brought to Portland as part of a scheme to take over gambling and vice operations there.

"Have they been destroyed?" Kennedy demanded, referring to the records.

"I don't think there's the slightest connection," Crosby replied. "If you will tell me the truth..." Kennedy began.

"I am telling the truth," the witness broke in, "and I certainly feel you are taking unfair advantage of me when you imply that I am not."

Crosby then went on to report his belief that some of the records are gone.

Mayor Denies Payoffs

Earlier Mayor Terry Schiunk of Portland denied that he ever received payoffs from the city's underworld. He refused to have his answers checked by a lie detector.

When Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a member of the special Senate rackets investigating group, proposed that Schiunk undergo a test the mayor said, "No sir."

"After consideration and after spending 11 days around here," Schiunk continued, "in my opinion this will be settled in the Oregon courts. I'll rest on that."

Mundt Disagreed That Oregon Courts Would Be the Only Ones Involved

He said he thought the Justice Department also would be in the picture because it is "evident somebody has committed perjury here."

Boeing Given Bomber Research Contract

SEATTLE, March 12 (P)—The Boeing Airplane Co. said today it has been awarded a $34 million dollar contract to continue design studies for an "advanced type bombardment aircraft beyond the B32."

The Seattle Times said the air force contract is for continued studies of the proposed WS110A chemically powered supersonic bomber.

"You have a bomb on your plane. You'd better get it off before your plane takes off," he said the bomb was on TWA's next flight out of La Guardia Field.

TWA reported that it did not place much credence in the threat but that it immediately alerted all planes that had taken off shortly beforehand to make precautionary landings at the first appropriate airport.

Meanwhile it began a search of its planes on the ground at La Guardia and Idlewild airports. This delayed a number of take-offs.

An airline representative said the FBI was investigating the call.

U.S. Seeking Red Sea Base From Ethiopia

Port Of Massawa Within Easy Reach Of Gulf Of Aqaba

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, March 12 (P)—The United States has asked Ethiopia for a Red Sea military base on Egypt's southern flank, reliable sources said today. The locale is south and east of Suez.

Vice President Nixon, now visiting Ethiopia, has discussed the idea with Emperor Haile Selassie, informants said. Selassie was reported receptive provided he gets more U.S. aid.

The informants said the United States wants an Air Force communications base and naval anchoring facilities at the Red Sea port of Massawa.

Massawa Near Hot Spot

Massawa is within easy reach of one of the Middle East's hot spots, the Gulf of Aqaba, and would provide bunkering for U.S. Navy Middle East units operating in the Red Sea.

Israeli forces withdrew from Egyptian positions on the Gulf of Aqaba last week on an assumption Egypt would not interfere with Israeli ships bound up the Gulf to Israel's port of Eilat.

The United States shared this assumption, but the Egyptian press has indicated Egypt intends to block Israeli ships from the Gulf, as it did before the Israeli invasion last fall.

Soviet Warning Reported

The word that the United States was seeking the base apparently leaked out and touched off furious diplomatic activity.

The Soviet Union is reported to have advised Ethiopia it might be dragged into a major war because it contended—the United States wants to store atomic and hydrogen bombs on its territory.

President Nasser of Egypt sent a special mission to Addis Ababa three days before Nixon arrived. The envoy reportedly carried an urgent message asking the Emperor to visit Cairo.

U.S. Tells Asia Allies It Still Is Anti-Red China

CANBERRA, Australia, March 12 (P)—The United States reaffirmed before its Southeast Asia allies today a determination not to recognize Communist China.

Seeking to dispel rumors the Eisenhower administration might soften its stand on Red China, Secretary of State Dulles declared:

"United States diplomatic recognition of the Chinese Communist regime would serve no national purpose but would strengthen and encourage influence hostile to us and to our allies and further imperil lands whose independence is related to our own peace and security."

Backs Nationalist China

Dulles told the SEATO Council of Ministers the United States "adheres steadfastly" to its recognition of Nationalist China and its opposition to giving China's seat in the United Nations to the Peiping government.

SEATO is the eight-nation organization formed three years ago against Communist aggression aimed at the countries on Red China's southeast and southern borders.

Dulles' statement at a closed session of the SEATO conference was welcomed by the Philippines. Vice President Carlos P. Garcia said U. S.-Filipino agreement on the China issue means that U. S. Filipino joint defense agreements "will continue to operate in a spirit of mutual understanding and harmony based on an essential policy agreement."

British View Expressed

Britain, which recognizes Communist China, made it clear Dulles' statement could not be considered a common policy of the eight-nation SEATO organization.

A British delegation source said: "We have a somewhat different practice in the matter. Recognition of a government, however, does not necessarily imply approval and recognition of its policy."

Number Holding Jobs Back Over 63 Million Mark

WASHINGTON, March 12 (P)—Employment bounced back over the 63 million mark in February, reversing a downward trend that started early last fall, the government reported today.

The number of jobholders rose by 612,000 during the month to 63,190,000. Still, this increase wiped out only about one-third of the abnormally sharp decline of 1,700,000 in January.

Unemployment dropped by 123,000 during the month to 3,121,000, about 4.7 per cent of the labor force. This included some 244,000 persons who were added to the unemployed rolls by a change in definition.

Tally System Revised

For the first time, the Commerce and Labor departments counted as unemployed those persons on a layoff of less than 30 days, or who expected to start a new job within 30 days. These had previously been listed as employed, but labor union leaders said the practice gave a distorted picture of the situation.

The government said unemployment in February was about the same as in the early part of 1956. It was about 400,000 lower than at the beginning of 1955, when there were many who had not yet returned to work after the business slump in 1954.

57,996,000 In Non-Farm Jobs

Employment in nonagricultural industries rose by 353,000 during the month to 57,996,000, an increase of more than a million from the like period last year. Most of the monthly increase was among domestic workers and the self-employed, who had experienced sharp setbacks in January.

A marked improvement in the weather boosted farm employment by 260,000 in February to 5,195,000. The farm work force, however, was still at one of the lowest levels on record for February.

Dag Expected To Fly To Cairo On Saturday

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 12 (P)—A usually well informed source reported tonight Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld will fly to Cairo Saturday to confer on Gaza developments.

Israeli Delegate Mordecai R. Kidron notified Hammarskjöld of Israel's "extreme concern" over reported moves to restore the Gaza Strip to Egyptian control. He paid a 45-minute call on the secretary general.

The informed source declared Hammarskjöld planned to stay in Egypt "as long as is necessary." It was not clear whether he also intended to visit Israel.

Borneo Revolts Against Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia, March 12 (P)—Borneo, Indonesia's largest island, today overthrew national government authority and installed a revolutionary council led by Lt. Col. Hasan Basri.

The Borneo uprising was the latest in a series against President Sukarno's central government and his plans for a "guided democracy" that have troubled the young republic in recent weeks.

The national government now controls little except the populous island of Java. There have been rumors that Eastern and Western Java also may revolt.

Presidential palace sources said both the government and Sukarno were notified of the rebellion in Borneo several days ago.

Senators Back Bruce As Envoy

WASHINGTON, March 12 (P)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee gave unanimous approval today to President Eisenhower's nominee for ambassador to West Germany—David K. E. Bruce, a 1956 Democratic campaign contributor.

Some Republicans had complained about Eisenhower's choice of a Democrat but Chairman Green (D-RI) said no political questions were raised at the committee's hour-long closed session.

Also approved without dissent was the nomination of Amory Houghton, Corning, N.Y., to be ambassador to France and those of three other top diplomatic appointees.

The others were William J. Sebald, a career foreign service officer, to be ambassador to Australia; Thorsten V. Kalijarvi for promotion from deputy assistant secretary to assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, and Elbridge Durbrow to be ambassador to Viet Nam.

All the nominations now go to the full Senate for action.

Ike Undergoes Medical Check; Has Improved

WASHINGTON, March 12 (P)—President Eisenhower went to Walter Reed Army Hospital and had another checkup today. After the tests his cough, head cold and ear inflammation were reported improved.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty told of the new medical check after the President had already returned to the White House.

Hagerty said X-rays of the chest and lungs showed they were clear. He said the doctors reported that examination of the sinuses, without the use of X-rays, showed they were clear too.

The cough was described as "less harsh and less frequent" and the ear inflammation was said to have diminished, with the result that Eisenhower is now able to hear better.

Eisenhower has been bothered by a cough and cold since his inauguration Jan. 21. He said at his news conference last Thursday that his left ear had become inflamed and he could not hear as well as usual.

Hagerty said the President still "hopes and expects" to get away to Florida soon for a few days of sun and golf.

White Youths Beat Negro Boy To Death

CHICAGO, March 12 (P)—Alvin Palmer, a 17-year-old Negro high school student, was beaten to death by a pack of white teenagers.

Palmer died of a skull fracture today in Holy Cross Hospital.

A passer-by gave this account to detectives:

Palmer was waiting for a bus last night when the gang of eight sauntered past him.

They returned, surrounded him, and one of them smashed his head with a single blow. The witness told the officers that no word was spoken.

Palmer asked several times, "What did they hit me with?" Police said the nature of the damage indicated the weapon was a hammer.

Confused Cabbie Sets Off Needless Rescue Effort

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 12 (P)—A confused cab driver spurred some 50 men from two police departments, two fire departments and the Coast Guard into a needless five-hour rescue effort today.

Police said this is what happened:

The cabbie, Lynn B. Johnson, 29, drove into Biscayne Bay between Miami and Miami Beach, then swam ashore and told shocked bystanders two people were trapped in the vehicle.

Within minutes, four rescue boats were dragging the water, skin divers were searching the bottom and police and fire equipment from the two cities were standing by.

Two officers rescued Johnson from the roof of the car after he swam back to it to conduct his own rescue operation. The vehicle was in nine feet of water.

Almost five hours later Johnson remembered the name of his passenger, who was located safe in bed at his hotel.

The passenger, John Simon, a bartender, said he and a girl friend hired Johnson's cab for a night club tour at 2:30 a.m., and that Johnson dropped him off at his hotel about 7 a.m. after taking his girl friend home.

"I don't remember bringing Johnny and his girl home," Johnson said. "When I was heading back to town a car crowded me off the road and I swerved off the causeway into the bay."

"At the time of the accident I thought they were still with me, but now I don't think so."

Egypt Delays Move To Take Strip Control

Bunche Sees Cairo
Officials, Reports
To U.N. Via Phone

CAIRO, Egypt, March 12 (P)—Egypt tonight withheld orders to send a civil administration into the Gaza Strip in the midst of widespread concern over its announced intention of governing there.

The announcement yesterday that Egypt would take over civil control of the strip immediately stirred up a diplomatic storm in the U.N. and in Israel and Washington.

Diplomatic quarters said U. N. officials believe Egypt's hasty decision violated an understanding between U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt.

An official of Egypt's Palestine Department said he did not know when Egyptian administrators will go to Gaza.

U. N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche was seeing Egyptian officials and keeping in close telephone contact with U.N. headquarters in New York.

Compromise Possible

There were indications a compromise may be worked out so that Egypt would take over civil control of the strip and the U.N. Emergency Force would keep peace on the Israeli - Egyptian frontier.

Fears remained that Israel would react sharply and create a new crisis. The Israelis withdrew from Gaza on the assumption that Egypt would not be permitted to return. Israel accuses Egypt of using Gaza as a base for raids on Israel.

The U. N. Emergency Force moved into the strip behind the Israelis and its action was given as one reason for Egypt's decision to take over civil administration.

Egypt had protested to Hammarskjöld because UNEF troops fired over the heads of an Arab mob in Gaza Sunday.

The U.N. confirmed for the first time that one Arab was wounded fatally by a ricocheting bullet. The death was first reported in the Egyptian press.

Egypt Unprepared For Clash

Neutral military observers said the Egyptians would be in a poor position at present in case of a clash with Israeli forces which vacated the strip under U. N. and United States pressure last week. They reported almost no Egyptian combat troops have been sent into the Sinai Desert since the Israelis withdrew weeks ago, tearing up roads, communications and military installations as they retreated.

The reported Egyptian intentions were outlined just after Dr. Bunche conferred with Col. Salah Gohar, head of the Egyptian Palestine Department, on the surprise announcement here Monday that President Nasser's government is going to resume administration of the Gaza Strip.

The announcement of the appointment of Gen. Hassan Abdel Latif as governor of the strip threatened to upset U. N. plans to administer the area at least until tempers cool down in the Middle East.

Josephine Hull, Star Of Stage, Dies At 71

NEW YORK, March 12 (P)—Stage star Josephine Hull, 71, died today at St. Barnabas Hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Miss Hull had been ailing for several years. Her last Broadway appearance was in "The Solid Gold Cadillac," from which she withdrew in May, 1954 following a stroke. She later unsuccessfully attempted to resume the role.

Woman's Torso Found In Bag Along Parkway

NEW YORK, March 12 (P)—The torso of a woman was found today in a laundry bag alongside the Hutchinson River Parkway in the Bronx.

Police theorized the package had been thrown from a south-bound car. They said the limbs and head had been "neatly" severed and the torso wrapped in a pink blanket and a yellow blanket before being put in the laundry bag. The bag was tied in a package with string.

Nicholas Guglielmo, 29, a park department employee, found the bag while filling in shoulder ruts along the parkway.

West Va. Governor Signs Finance Department Bill

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 12 (AP)—West Virginia's state government will have a new and centralized Department of Finance and Administration come July 1, Gov. Cecil Underwood signed into law today a bill to establish it.

The agency will be headed by a $10,000-a-year director yet to be named by the governor for a six-year term. Each of five division heads in the department will be named by the director, to serve at his will and pleasure.

The department's division of central accounting, budget, purchasing, personnel and general services will take over part or all of the functions of several other existing state agencies.

The new agency will represent the first step toward a sweeping fiscal reorganization of state government.

Eight other Senate-originated bills Underwood signed into law today include one tightening the licensing of distillery and winery representatives selling alcoholic beverages to the state.

That measure raised the annual license fee for such representatives from $10 to $100, and requires that they be full-time, salaried employees of the firms for which they work. It becomes effective 90 days from March 4.

Another bill signed into law today, and effective from final passage by the Legislature March 5, raises the per diem of racing commissioners from $25 to $40, and the annual ceiling on their salaries from $2,500 to $4,000.

That act puts a new 24-month ceiling on any construction permit previously or here after issued by the three-member commission, and speeds up action on applications for racing meeting licenses.

The commission now must act within 10 days on such an application, and offer a public explanation of reasons for denial of any such permit.

Byrd Eulogized; Funeral To Be Held Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower led Washington officials in paying tribute today to Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, who will be buried with full military honors Thursday in Arlington National Cemetery.

The nation and the world, Eisenhower said, "have lost one of the truly great explorers of all time . . . and I have lost an old and dear friend."

Byrd, who died last night in Boston of a heart ailment, also was eulogized in the House as "one of the great Americans."

Eisenhower said in a statement that Byrd's explorations in the arctic and antarctic added "tremendously to the world scientific knowledge of polar regions."

The President said Mrs. Eisenhower joined him in extending "heartfelt sympathy" to the Byrd family on behalf of all Americans. Byrd was "a gallant gentleman, a fearless and determined explorer, and a true servant of his country," Eisenhower said.

The President ordered flags flown at half staff "on all buildings, grounds and naval vessels of the federal government in the District of Columbia and throughout the United States and its territories and possessions" until after burial of the admiral.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday (10 a.m. EST) in the chapel at nearby Ft. Myer, Va., by Navy chaplain John D. Zimmerman.

Burial will be in the adjacent national cemetery, with representatives of Congress, the White House and the military acting as honorary pallbearers.

Hennings said he understands Secretary of State Dulles "is retaliating against Mr. Worthy by refusing to grant a new passport to him."

Bank Borrows Money As Vault Fails To Unlock

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The man whose job it is to lock up the vault and set the timer at the National Savings & Trust Co. did the usual at closing time yesterday.

After leaving the bank he had a stroke and was taken to a hospital. Came time to open up this morning and the vault wouldn't. The bankers went across the street and borrowed enough cash to get the day's business under way.

Officials said the automatic timer had been set the wrong way and that they had no idea when the vault would open up. They said they had questioned the locker-upper but he couldn't remember what he had done at closing time.

Safe technicians were called.

Thousands Pay Pope Homage

VATICAN CITY, March 12 (AP)—Pope Pius XII smiled and gave his blessing to thousands who paid him homage today on the 18th anniversary of his coronation.

Some 20,000 persons, among them the diplomatic representatives of about 50 nations, cheered the 81-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church as bearers brought him into St. Peter's basilica on his portable throne. Trumpets pealed. Sunlight glinted on polished helmets of the Vatican's Swiss guards.

Resolution Urges Passport For Worthy

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) today introduced a resolution to put Congress on record as favoring the granting of a new passport to William Worthy.

Worthy, a reporter for the Baltimore Afro-American, defied a State Department ban and went to Red China last year.

His passport has since expired. He has an application for renewal pending. The State Department says it has not yet acted on this.

Hennings said he understands Secretary of State Dulles "is retaliating against Mr. Worthy by refusing to grant a new passport to him."

Blood Donors Found By CAP

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., March 12 (AP)—Floyd Collis had tried for three days to find a blood donor for his 4-year-old daughter, Linda, without luck.

He made appeals by radio and other means for whole blood—type B with a positive rh factor—for the little girl, now in Baltimore's Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Then someone suggested the Civil Air Patrol, which has more than 300 radio stations in West Virginia alone.

That evening, Lt. Irvin Noll of station "Lowland 18" here sent out the call. Within two hours, Lt. Henry D'Amico of Morgantown's "Lowland 4" had seven donors.

The transportation problem came to the attention of Col. Joseph T. Crane, commander of the 167th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, Air National Guard. He made a twin-engine C47 available and said seven squadron members with the same type blood volunteered to make the flight.

Maryland CAP personnel even provided ground transportation for donors in Baltimore, from Friendship International Airport to the hospital.

B36 Lugs Frame Of B58 Hustler Over 1,000 Miles

DAYTON, Ohio, March 12 (AP)—A giant B36 intercontinental bomber lugged the skeleton of a new B58 Hustler over 1,000 miles today under its belly.

The sky-giant carried the air frame of the new supersonic bomber partially tucked into its bomb bay from the Convair plant at Fort Worth, Tex., to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near here.

Wright-Patterson technicians will put the skeleton through tests to determine its strength under extremes of heat and cold.

Convair test pilot Jack Baldrige, who flew the B36, described the flight as "routine."

"We hardly noticed we were carrying it" (the B58), he added. He said the B36, with two of its engines stilled and its landing gear lowered to make room for the B58, managed an average airspeed of 210 M.P.H.

The B58 was stripped of its engines, hydraulic systems and "other things that make it fly," Convair officials said.

Convair calls the B58 the world's biggest bomber and the B58 the world's fastest.

Maryland Advised To Assert Potomac Control, Dare Virginia To Challenge It

ANNAPOLIS, March 12 (AP)—Maryland's only means of making Virginians toe the mark in the Potomac River is to assert exclusive control and dare the neighboring state to challenge it, legislators were told today.

In fact, legal experts expressed a desire that Virginia would go to the Supreme Court if Maryland votes to repeal the 1785 compact. Only by putting the issue squarely before the court could the question be settled beyond doubt whether one state may declare such a compact ended, the House Judiciary Committee was informed.

"We have everything to gain and nothing to lose," the committee was advised if Maryland does declare its intention to pull out of the compact and take over regulation of fishing in the river which it owns. Virginians were granted equal fishing privileges in the river by the compact in return for allowing free passage of ships past its capes.

The federal Constitution was adopted four years later and in it "Virginia lost all power to stop the passage of ships," so that part of the compact became a "dead letter," said Dr. Carl Everstine, director of legislative research.

Everstine was one of two speakers who suggested that Virginia might not make a court challenge of repeal of the compact.

He said it didn't in 1945 when Maryland arrested and tried a Virginia violator, although the concurrent law provides that a citizen should be prosecuted in his home state if accused of violating the Potomac fishing regulations.

"We expected Virginia to go to court then, but we got away with it," Everstine said.

If Virginia did carry the repeal question to the Supreme Court, Everstine said "I think Maryland could present a fairly strong case. We could point out that Virginia is making literally no effort to keep oyster dredgers out of the river."

"The compact never was meant to be a cloak of legality."

Maryland has been brought to the point of repealing the compact by the oyster dredging. It has been prohibited since 1931, but Virginians are being constantly chased by Maryland boats.

"They're pirates, they know no laws, they do anything they want," declared Del. Raley (D-St. Mary's), a sponsor of the repeal bill which was not taken up for a committee vote after the hearing.

No Virginians appeared to protest, although three of its top officials had been invited.

"We feel that we are now stymied and probably have nothing to lose by repeal of the compact," testified Joseph Kauffman of the attorney general's office.

"A callous disregard of the law by Virginia does exist," he said.

John P. Tawes, chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, speaking for himself and Gov. McKeldin, said "we're of the opinion, administratively, that the compact is of no value, no force and its present day status is irrelevant and immaterial."

Because of the necessity of having both states agree to any regulation, Tawes declared it "is almost impossible to reach reasonable conclusions."

"We've been to Richmond, we've conferred with the governor, the attorney general, the commissioner of fisheries on numerous occasions. We've met from Boston to Old Point Comfort on the Potomac River problem."

"They're a long way from being cooperative."

Tawes also indicated he doubted that Virginia officials would take the compact question to the supreme court.

"I think Virginia feels the compact is useless, too," he said, "but it is not politically expedient for them to say so. If I were in their position, I never would say so either."

Tawes said it is necessary for his commission to assign four boats permanently to the river to guard against illegal dredgers "and at times we've had as many as eight to 10."

But it has been only recently, after purchase of a Navy speed boat, have Maryland inspectors been able to keep up to high power boats from Colonial Beach, Va.

"For the last six weeks, the river is clear for the first time since 1931," Tawes reported.

Weapons "Harvest" Melted As Scrap

BALTIMORE, March 12 (AP)—More than 550 guns, knives, jimmies, chisels and axes, taken by police from the city's criminal element, were melted today in the furnaces of Bethlehem Steel Co.

Formerly, such annual collections taken during arrests, raids and friskings have been dumped in Chesapeake Bay. But Police Commissioner James M. Hepburn said with all the dredging and other activities going on in the bay now, it was feared the weapons might be recovered. So they were carefully bundled up and put into the furnaces at the steel plant where they were melted down with tons of other scrap.

Prominent Salisbury Businessman Dies

PHILADELPHIA, March 12 (AP)—H. Lay Phillips Sr., prominent Salisbury, Md. businessman, died today in a Philadelphia hospital, where he had been a patient for 10 weeks. He was 64.

Phillips' business on the Eastern Shore of Maryland included road and farm machinery rentals, real estate and investments. He also had been active in the canning industry prior to 1945, and from 1910 to 1945 he and his late brother, Pratt D. Phillips, constructed roads throughout the area.

Born near Quantico, Wicomico County, Phillips was educated in rural schools and Goldsey Business College in Wilmington, Del.

Shinnston Woman Is Fatally Burned

FAIRMONT, W. Va., March 12 (AP)—Mrs. Virginia Riley, about 27, of Shinnston, died in a hospital today of burns suffered in a fire at her home.

The victim's four children were burned in the blaze that gutted the bedroom in which they were sleeping. Three daughters, Debby, 4 months; Diane, 4, and Judy Ann, 10, remained in the hospital today. Randy Lee, 6, was released after treatment.

Shinnston Fire Chief Joseph McIntyre said the fire probably started when Mrs. Riley attempted to light an open grate heater that burned a mixture of oil and anti-freeze.

Rock 'n' Roll Sets Off Melee

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—An amateur talent show featuring rock 'n' roll music ended in a rock-throwing demonstration last night.

Three squad cars of police were called to disperse about 500 teenagers who gathered outside a southeast Washington junior high school where the show had been put on.

Police said the Negro youths became so excited by the rock 'n' roll numbers that a patrolman felt it necessary to step to the stage and announce:

"If you want to see the rest of the show, you'll have to quiet down."

The response to his announcement was that the crowd headed for the exits. Outside, some youths began to drive off. Others leaped on the backs of the moving cars. When the patrolman, Pvt. Robert G. Powell, grabbed one youth who appeared to be falling from one of the cars the crowd became unruly.

Rocks were thrown and several persons, including Powell, were struck. The patrolman eventually got to a phone to call for reinforcements. After a time the crowd dispersed. There were no arrests.

Head Of Women's Safety Group Quits, Blasts Burke

BALTIMORE, March 12 (AP)—Chairman Paul E. Burke of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission was criticized today as a "stumbling block" to highway safety programs in the state.

Mrs. Marie E. Gardiner issued the blast as she resigned as head of the 600-member Maryland Women's Groups for Traffic Safety.

She said her resignation was triggered by the discovery that Burke apparently had approved the use of her organization's envelopes to mail out mimeographed copies of correspondence lauding him.

Mrs. Gardiner said Burke denied sending the letters and claimed they were sent by Miss Dorothy S. Healy, his public relations assistant. Miss Healy denied sending them also, Mrs. Gardiner said.

"As far as I can see," Mrs. Gardiner said, "it (the Traffic Safety Commission) has done nothing constructive to promote traffic safety in Maryland." She added that one trip she went on at the expense of the commission was "a waste of the taxpayers' money."

Mrs. Gardiner said she and Miss Healy attended the Western Conference on Traffic Safety last May in San Francisco, with Miss Healy acting as secretary at one night session of the conference.

"The safety program of Maryland was not benefited by the trip," she said. "We stayed at the best hotel in San Francisco, one I never could afford myself. It was very nice—but it was a waste of the taxpayers' money."

The safety commission's budget has been under fire at the Legislature in Annapolis in recent weeks. A bill to revise the commission — and cost Burke his job — has been introduced.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, March 12 (INS)—This is the second portion of a two-part visit with George F. Kennan, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow, now leading the cloistered life at Princeton's Advanced School of Studies.

Kennan, author of the "containment" policy in respect to the Soviet Union, is midway through writing a trilogy exhaustively tracing Russian history during the short but historical important period when communism conquered the land. The first volume "Russia Leaves the War" (Princeton University Press) is 500 pages of historical scholarship which, notwithstanding reads like a great and tragic novel.

Kennan, on U. S. relations with Russia immediately after that revolution-torn country deposed the Czar and pulled out of World War I—"It is one of the greatest tragedies of history that the United States entered World War I within a few short weeks after the February (1917) revolution, which brought Alexander Kerensky into power. Once in the war, we were dominated by a war psychology. Nothing else was important. Everybody else should be in, we felt. The hysteria here and in the West in general was disgraceful. The worst kind of demagoguery was loose.

Dachshunds were kicked to death on the streets, for example. Prominent churchmen denied that Christian doctrine applied to Germany.

"We sent the elder statesman Elihu Root to Petrograd to manifest America's sympathy for the 'adherence of Russia to the principle of democracy' and to confer with the Russian government about 'the best ways and means to bring about effective cooperation between the two governments in the prosecution of the war.'"

"We based our offer of aid to Kerensky on Russia continuing in the war. No war, no loan, Root said. Kerensky did what he could. But it was a suicidal thing to ask. The Bolsheviks had their popular position. They preached 'let the imperialists fight each other to the death—we've suffered enough.' The people eagerly agreed—and Kerensky was out and the Reds were in by November of the same 1917.

"Who knows, really? If we had let Russia do what it wished to do—leave the war—and still aided Kerensky, and if we had not been immersed in our own hysteria, I feel that moderate, constitutional government would have taken root in Russia. But when we pressed Kerensky, and he tried, even his generals turned against him."

Kennan on communism's survival—"Soviet communism is a function of Western disunity. The French, British and eventually the Americans fought Germany, another Western power, in World War I, and Russia went communist as a direct result.

"Hitler started the second great fratricidal strife within the West—and communism moved in and took half of Europe. Then it took China when once again there was disunity in the West. I say that if there had been no world wars communism would not exist today."

Kennan on U. S. Ambassador David R. Francis, one of the futile figures of that era in diplomacy—"The ambassador was the very prototype of the bourgeoisie. Come revolution or counter-revolution, nothing interfered with his grand walks through Petrograd. The embassy staff naturally was concerned about him but dared not approach him with suggestions. Finally, his butler, Philip Jordan, said to him, 'Boss, you've got to stop strutting around in that fur hat, that fur collar on your coat, and those spats and cane. If you don't, one of these fine days those tough Bolsheviks will say, 'Boy, look what the Good Lord done sent us!'" (Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)

Councilman Plans Sewer Plant Meeting

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz has announced installation without causing harm, he is planning a meeting of city officials with local industrial leaders in connection with the future operation of the sewage treatment plant.

Buchholtz said he wants Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, to sit in on the session that will concern types of material being dumped into the present sewage system. When the new $2,000,000 plant is placed in operation, at Offutt Street Extended is in operation, some industrial Referring to Monday's discussion of the sewage plant with Robert T. Regeister, consulting engineer, Buchholtz said it appears the March 15 deadline for completion will not be met. It will more likely be July 15, he added.

Doctors Back Polio Drive

The Allegany - Garrett County Medical Society is on record to give full cooperation to the six-week polio vaccine program in the area.

Dr. H. W. Eliason, chairman of the society's polio campaign, said yesterday that physicians throughout the county will cooperate 100 per cent to see that everyone between the ages of three years and 40, receive polio vaccine during the period March 1 to April 15.

The society suggested that wherever possible the vaccine will be given by the family physicians for the minimum charge of $3.

This program falls in line with other Maryland counties and Baltimore City, Dr. Eliason said. The society noted, however, that when a person requires a routine examination the regular office fee will be charged. Both the first and second polio shots will be given during this six-week period, Dr. Eliason said.

The purpose of the program is to have every person in Allegany and Garrett counties receive the polio vaccine at a minimum charge.

The doctors agreed to set up appointments with the adults at the convenience of the patient during his time. Dr. Eliason said that residents of the counties should contact their family physicians so that the vaccine may be obtained at once.

Dr. Eliason noted that after April 15, the physicians will charge their normal fees for vaccine.

The society decided against a definite polio clinic because it would be too inconvenient for the working people. As the program was established, Dr. Eliason said it will be simple for the people to contact their physicians and make arrangements at the individual's own convenience.

Woman Wants Name Taken From Petition For Merit System

A Bedford Street woman has written the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that she signed a petition recently in connection with the proposed merit system for county employees by mistake.

Mrs. R. D. Nave, 923 Bedford Street, wrote that she was under the impression the merit system petition she signed provided for all county employees, including department heads, being covered. Mrs. Nave said "in my mind" all employees would be covered. "The person who presented me the petition grossly misrepresented this fact," she added. "I authorize the commissioners to strike my name from the petition," she concluded.

Auto Parking Complaint Is Received By County; Dumping Report Is Given

Two residents of Oaklawn Avenue in LaVale have requested the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to do something in regard to a bad condition at the intersection of the avenue with U. S. Route 40 caused by parking.

They are Paul Steinla and Richard Heacock, who told the board that it is difficult to gain entrance to the avenue and also to exit due to the manner in which some cars park at the intersection. He said someone dumped two full-grown hogs along the Breakneck Road and one on the old Williams Road. In addition, a litter of five shoats were dumped along the Breakneck Road. The animals were dead and are a health hazard, he added.

Chapman reported to the board that a pile of trash dumped along the Cash Valley Road was picked up by a county road truck crew and hauled to an authorized dump.

Among the trash were a number of envelopes and magazines containing the names of several residents of the Mt. Savage section, Chapman said. It is believed they may be responsible for dumping the trash.

Each spring each club of the district sends one or more boys from each community to participate in the special activities planned for them in conjunction with the conference. Prominent men, identified with youth work are secured to speak at their dinners and others identified with youth education participate in forums and discussion groups for the boys, during their stay at the conference.

Electrocardiograph Fund Goes Over Top

A happy smile by James Bangerd, fifth from the left, as he received a check from John Davis, grand knight of Frostburg Knights of Columbus, signifies the reaching of a goal to collect funds for the purchase of an electrocardiograph for Miners Hospital. Not more than two months ago the need of the machine was made known through an article in The News. Immediately, organizations and individuals made known that they would sponsor and collect the amount needed. The K of C-CWO check for $329.50 put the fund over the top. Left to right are Bernard Rafferty, deputy grand knight; Mr. Davis, Mrs. John Devers, president of the Catholic Women's Organization who co-sponsored the dance at which the money was raised; Mrs. Helen Cain, chairman of the refreshment committee; Mr. Bangerd and Mrs. Francis Peretti, chairman of the decorating committee.

Each day workshops, lectures and panel discussions will be attended by the staff.

A banquet is scheduled at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel for all delegates and a tour and observations of the United Nations building will be made.

The editor of the Chime, Miss Brode, has been honored by being selected to introduce the speaker of the evening at the banquet and to lead the discussion on a forum entitled "The Young Poet and the Professional Poetry Market."

Last year the Beall High Chime received a first place rating in judging of school newspapers.

Nation Needs More Termite Watchers

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—What this country needs is a young, eager hard-working termite watcher.

This opinion came yesterday from an old, eager, hard-working termite watcher, Dr. Thomas E. Snyder of the Smithsonian Institution. He feels scholars should be set up to encourage young men to become termite specialists.

Snyder can be called either a taxonomist or an isopterist, an expert at identifying and classifying termites.

It pains him to report that he and Dr. A. E. Emerson of the University of Chicago have the U.S. monopoly on termite spying, a situation that can be fraught with danger for every homeowner in the country.

"Now if I should happen to pop off," Snyder said, "and with Emerson planning to leave for Europe right away for a six months' trip, there would be no one around to identify any strange termites that might come in."

In fairness, it should be pointed out that there seems to be slight danger of Snyder popping off. He's only 72 and, though he has retired, he still reports eagerly for work each day.

But the danger of having a strange termite move in to cause tremendous damage is quite real. More than 2,000 species of termites live in the world, and many of them would be happy to migrate here and join our 41 native species in chomping away at the local woodwork.

Termites do 100 million dollars damage each year in this country. Then how come no one is studying the cussed little creatures?

Snyder says the answer is simple: homeowners aren't organized, so there's no push for anyone to work in pure science. He's hoping that industry—such as the lumber interests—may put up money for scholarships that will enable qualified college graduates to continue their work for Ph.D. degrees.

"The trouble now," Snyder said, "is that some fine young men plans to complete his studies, but along comes some nice, good-looking blonde. He gets married and has to take a job in the eradication business."

Snyder concedes that blondes have greater pulling power than termites, although his wife—a brunette—must sometimes wonder.

The Snyders were walking down a street in Charleston, S. C. when he suddenly whipped out a knife, started hacking away at a telephone pole and then cried triumphantly: "This is the first time we've found these this far north!"

Snyder may be the only man who ever made an important termite discovery while on his honeymoon.

Scientists Develop "Talking Missile"

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP)—Chicago area scientists have developed a missile that delivers a five-minute spoken message on its way to the earth.

The message, delivered over a speaker system being parachuted, is designed for ground soldiers or civilians who can not be reached by conventional radio transmitters.

The missile was designed for the Air Force by scientists at the Cook Research Laboratories in suburban Morton Grove.

Weighing 850 pounds, the bomb-shaped container can be dropped from a high-speed plane.

A parachute slides out from the rear, slowing the missile, and a second section pulls free. This section contains magnetic tape, 500-watt battery, amplifier and other units.

A parachute slides out from the rear of this section, slowing its descent further and snapping off a nose cone that protects the loud speaker horn.

The sound goes into operation when the section reaches a predetermined altitude. Dropping at the rate of 14 feet a second, it broadcasts its recorded message on the way down.

Tests have shown that the message can be heard and understood well outside a circle half a mile in diameter of the ground "target," the scientists said.

Glorified Igloo Seen Safeguard For Atom Plant

PHILADELPHIA, March 12 (AP)—Glorified Eskimo igloos will dot the American landscape as protective enclosures for possible "runaway" atomic power plants, a key atomic scientist said yesterday.

Arthur J. Raymo of the General Electric Co. said that huge pressurized hollow steel spheres, up to 225 feet in diameter, looked like good bets as "containment vessels" for atomic power plants in case anything should go wrong with the atomic reactor's control system, releasing potentially dangerous radioactive materials.

Such a protective system, he said, has been used in GE's power plant at West Milton, N.Y., and is scheduled for use in the Commonwealth Edison project in Illinois.

Raymo discussed the idea at the 1957 nuclear congress sponsored by some 20 engineering and technical societies, coordinated by the Engineers Joint Council. Nuclear scientists from the U.S. and six foreign countries are in attendance.

Saying that a "rounded-end cylinder" might be an alternative to an igloo type sphere, Raymo asserted:

"Improvements in atomic power plants design are going to be developed rapidly and it is reasonable to predict that, at some future time, containment vessels will not be considered necessary but until that goal is achieved the characteristic marks of a nuclear power plant are likely to be the massive sphere and rounded-end cylinder...."

Raymo indicated that prospective A-power industrial plants would ideally be located at sites "where tornadoes, floods and earthquakes are not dominant factors" because of danger to the containment vessels—and hence to the reactor itself—from such violent outbreaks.

The technician said it is possible that such ructions of nature could be dealt with, but that they would involve costly outlays in terms of the containment structure.

Of the 500 or more kinds of bats distributed throughout the world, the fruit bats, also known as flying foxes, are the largest.

Science Instructor Addresses Garden Club; Workshop Shifted To April 5

William M. Leeson, science instructor at Fort Hill High School, was the principal speaker at Monday's meeting of the Garden Club of Cumberland at the Civic Club House.

Mr. Leeson, who has made an extensive study of wild flowers, showed slides of "native flowers, of grooming, color and the arrangement of flowers. The afternoon program will start at 1 o'clock and will be a work class in arrangement of flowers. The workshop will be open for members and invited guests.

Flower arrangements of spring chairman, brought to the attention of the club members the extensive cutting of shade trees in the city and stated that over 300 trees have been cut down to date.

Ralph C. Isiminger announced a change in the date of the "Flower Arrangement Workshop" which will be held Friday, April 5, at the Fiesta Room of Central YMCA.

She said the morning session of the workshop will begin at 10 o'clock with a panel discussion of grooming, color and the arrangement of flowers. The afternoon program will start at 1 o'clock and will be a work class in arrangement of flowers. The workshop will be open for members and invited guests.

Arnett Widner, horticultural chairman, brought to the attention of the club members the extensive cutting of shade trees in the city and stated that over 300 trees have been cut down to date.

Garrett Co. Ruling Upheld By High Court

The Maryland Court of Appeals yesterday upheld a Garrett County Circuit Court injunction preventing County Commissioner Aubrey C. Brenneman from acting as a commissioner during discussions on the balance due his son, John J. Brenneman, for drilling at Bishop's quarry.

An Associated Press dispatch from Annapolis said the appeals court ruled that Brenneman "directly or indirectly participated in the benefits of an agreement" between the commissioners and a drilling firm.

Brenneman had argued for release from the injunction on grounds that he is not a partner in the drilling firm. He said he severed his relationship with the "A. C. Brenneman and Son" drilling business when he received the Republican nomination for county commissioner.

But the appeals court said "the more money John made out of his work with the commissioners, the more likelihood there would be that Aubrey would be repaid what John owed him... even if a partnership did not exist... and although Aubrey may not have acted otherwise than in an unbiased manner."

The injunction against Brenneman was obtained by another commissioner Ervin A. Roth, also a Republican, who said he brought suit after "becoming suspicious as to the interest of (Commissioner) Brenneman in the drilling business supposed to be conducted by his son... alone."

In the same suit Roth obtained an injunction against the other Republican commissioner, Harvey D. Swartzentruber, to prevent him from selling any merchandise to the county.

Roth claimed that Brenneman and Swartzentruber, without his knowledge, purchased $60.40 worth of material for the county from Swartzentruber's mercantile business.

Swartzentruber did not appeal the lower court decree.

Aubrey Brenneman said Roth filed the lower court suit "to get even with him for objecting to the payments by the commissioners to Roth for delivering surplus food" in the county.

But the high court said "the allegations of want of good faith and the motives of Roth as a taxpayer are immaterial."

John Brenneman claims there is an unpaid balance of $16,438 for his work in drilling rock at the quarry as preparation for obtaining limestone for road work.

The high court said this claim will have to be determined by future proceedings.

It struck down two paragraphs of the lower court decree on grounds they dealt with the Board of Commissioners as a whole and the board was not a party to the suit.

Chief Judge George Henderson presided at the hearing after Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley disqualified himself. Roth was represented by Horace P. Whitworth Jr. and Horace P. Whitworth Sr. of Westernport, while Brenneman and Swartzentruber were represented by Walter Dawson of Oakland and William A. Gunter of Cumberland.

Indirect Aggression In Southeast Asia

As the Council of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization holds its annual meeting in Canberra, Australia, its members have just the sort of things to worry about that prompted establishment of SEATO in the first place. According to Secretary of State Dulles, the SEATO treaty dealt more explicitly with the danger of indirect aggression than any other security pact to which the United States is a party.

Signed at Manila in September 1954 by eight nations (Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, Philippines, Thailand, United Kingdom, United States), the pact pledged its signatories to develop their capacities not only "to resist armed attack" but also "to prevent and counter subversive activities." The treaty organization was to coordinate intelligence about such activities.

In its annual report for 1956, SEATO noted that Communist tactics in free Asia had shifted from armed aggression to "more insidious, but equally dangerous" subversion. The Reds had been trying to infiltrate trade unions, political movements, and cultural groups; to exploit neutralism for their own benefit; to subvert the loyalties of minority groups.

That SEATO is serving its purpose was indicated the day the report was issued in the statement of a government spokesman at Bangkok, Thailand. He said Thai officials had been warned by SEATO of a reported plot to overthrow the government. Two days earlier Premier Pibul Songgram had declared a state of emergency. He explained that action by saying that "Organized groups . . . with foreign support . . . are making a move to cause subversion and general unrest . . . and finally to take control of Thailand."

Communists And Jews

Among the resolutions that were not passed at the recent convention of the American Communist Party was one introduced by Morris U. Schappes, dealing with anti-Semitism in Soviet Russia. This resolution did not come up for a vote; it was referred to the incoming National Committee for consideration. The National Committee was instructed "in a fraternal manner," to request a statement from the Russian Communist Party explaining what has happened to the Jewish question. If such a request is ever made and it is ever answered, what will be done with the reply?

The resolution presented by Schappes takes cognizance of the anti-Semitism that developed during the Stalin regime. It says: ". . . The distortions of the Leninist policy on the Jewish question, as part of the distortions of the national question under Stalin's rule, led to the execution of the leading Jewish cultural figures, and to the administrative liquidation of all channels for Jewish cultural expression in Yiddish in 1948 and 1949. In the very last years of Stalin's life, these distortions produce the attempt to frame-up the Doctor's Case, and its use for anti-Semitic purposes."

The resolution explains the evils that grew up under Stalin:

"Since the XXth Congress in the Soviet Union, the Jewish question in the Soviet Union has been of particular concern. We who had considered that there had been a solution of the national question in general and of the problems of the Jewish people and anti-Semitism in particular, have become aware that the entire problem is more complex than we have hitherto thought. The liquidation of the outstanding Yiddish writers and Jewish communal and political leaders, and the snuffing out of organized Jewish cultural life have been known for some time since the XXth Congress.

"More recently, official delegations of the Canadian and British Communist parties, as well as French and American progressive journalists, after visits to the Soviet Union and discussions of the problem there, have publicly expressed dissatisfaction with the failure to restore Jewish cultural life, and also with certain views and judgments about the Jewish people expressed by individual spokesmen of the Soviet Union. From one Communist party delegation we learn, for instance, of such disturbing views and judgments as that the Jews were not considered patriotic enough to be allowed to make the Crimea a center of Jewish re-colonization after the war lest the Crimea become a 'place d'armes' against the USSR in case of another war, or that Jews are not loyal enough to return to the USSR from tours abroad."

Out of this discussion, two trends appear: one, that the Jew, individualistic and idealistic, found life under materialistic Communism too burdensome and found means for revolting against the worst phases of it; secondly, that under Stalin, Soviet Russia reverted to pan-Slavic chauvinism and that Stalin abused those minority nationalities, which he could not wipe out, by destroying their distinctive cultures. This has been a Russian problem since the Grand Duchy of Muscovy began to expand by absorbing large non-Russian populations.

During the early days of the Revolution, when Lenin and Trotsky were the major figures in the Soviet, Stalin held the rather secondary position of Commissar of Nationalities. He, not being a Russian himself, was regarded as an expert in this field. Lenin did not believe that it was necessary to assimilate all the various races and nations that compose Soviet Russia but that each could save its own culture, particularly its language which usually means so much to those who belong to minority groups. This was also Stalin's concept in the early days of the Revolution, but undoubtedly as his power grew, he insisted upon a monolithic state in which there would ultimately be one people, one language, one general belief as to what is right.

In pursuit of such a policy, he sought to destroy the Jews by eliminating their culture, particularly their religion. At first, the use of Yiddish, a Germanic dialect spoken by East European Jews, was encouraged to kill off Hebrew. Then the Yiddish theater and Yiddish press were suppressed. It was a systematic suppression of the cultural life of a people. Finally, under Khrushchev, Soviet Russia in pursuit of Arabic oil, became the principal enemy of the Jews throughout the world.

Schappes's resolution and its treatment by the American Communist Convention therefore takes on a special significance.

Wonder When The Kid Will Grow Up?

The Strange Race Between U.S. And Russia

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS

The final impression left by a long sojourn in the Soviet Union can be rather shortly summed up. The two sides in the great struggle that divides the world are now engaged in a peculiar sort of race. It is a life and death race but neither side fully understands its nature.

To describe it bluntly and even brutally, this is a race between the weakness of the West on the one hand and the evolution of Soviet society on the other hand. The creatures in the race are considerably more oddly assorted than the hare and the tortoise. And just to make this race even stranger still, each side is backing the other's animal to win.

While I was in the Soviet Union, I often felt grave doubts about the wisdom of the Western hopes that Soviet society will somehow and sometime change in a way that will make the division of the world more bearable and less dangerous. Indeed, I feel doubts about Western hopes now, when I see a presumably respectable American professor and alleged Russian expert proclaiming the weakness of the Soviet Union's massive industry because of short visits to two characteristically antiquated textile factories. (Of course it is heavy industry that has grown so massively in the Soviet Union, not consumer industry.)

In truth it is positively frightening to hear from Washington that the professor's claptrap has been taken seriously and is regarded as a great cause for optimism in the President's own circle. Nothing on earth could be more dangerous for the West than to underestimate Soviet military might and industrial strength. Everything I saw convinced me that Soviet military-industrial power is still growing and will continue to grow, although perhaps at a reduced rate.

All the same it is also true that the evolution of Soviet society offers the West quite genuine grounds for long-range hope.

This is because of the curious interaction of the major Soviet success and a serious Soviet failure.

The Soviet failure, which has only been really proven in the last year, is the failure to produce the famous "new Soviet man" so long envisaged by the Kremlin's masters. The moral laws have not been repealed in the Soviet Union, even though they were temporarily suspended by sheer terror. Men and women have not lost their desire to be free, their wish to live their own lives or their hankering to exercise their own individual judgments. People still want to be people, instead of a higher form of ant.

As for the Soviet success, it is the final attainment of the goal set long ago — the creation of a high industrial society, technically complex and advanced, with a gross product second only to that of the United States. The Soviet rulers themselves have now discovered that running such a society and insuring its continued development and progress are quite different things from constructing such a society by exhortation and by force.

As has been previously suggested in this space, successfully developing this kind of society demands a greater measure of freedom than the people of the Soviet Union have enjoyed for a very long time. But as soon as a little more freedom is granted, as it has now been granted, then the failure to produce the "new Soviet man" begins to make all sorts of trouble. People say things, people even do things that are not at all approved.

So there follows the kind of pullback toward unfreedom that is now taking place in Soviet intellectual life. You have to go to the Soviet Union to understand Plato's view that all poets are

President Persuaded Gen. Twining To Accept Chairmanship Of JCS

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Joint Chiefs of Staff were quietly called to the White House last week and officially notified that their next chairman would be Gen. Nathan Twining, now the Air Force chief.

Inside fact is that Twining had recommended his deputy, Gen. Thomas White, for the chairmanship, but the President persuaded Twining to take it himself rather than retire. White probably will replace Twining as Air Force Chief of Staff.

Originally, Secretary of Defense Wilson wanted to reappoint Adm. Arthur Radford, present chairman, to a third term, but crusty Congressman Carl Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, threatened to block Radford. Vinson told Wilson bluntly it was the Air Force's turn to take the chairmanship. Radford, he said, should step down.

Art And Communism

Rep. Herbert Scudder (R-Calif.) showed concern the other day about a proposal of two Democratic Congressmen to have the Commission of Fine Arts approve all designs for federal buildings.

Scudder was worried about "Communist" murals, and though reassured by Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Wis.), he was still skeptical.

"In this planning, I hope you do not desire to have artists get into the picture who will do what they did during the last 20 years. That is, decorate the walls with murals which are very obnoxious to the people in the area.

"In the Rincon Annex Post Office in San Francisco, it was the policy to paint murals. I had these murals very carefully analyzed by a cartoonist, and part of them was definitely Communist propaganda."

"I am glad that the gentleman from California raised that question," said Reuss, who with Rep. Frank Thompson (D-N.J.) is cosponsoring the proposal for Fine Arts Commission approval.

"Let me assure him that the chairman of the commission on Fine Arts is none other than Mr. David Finley, who was Mr. Andrew Mellon's lawyer and confidential adviser for many years. He generally shares the political and social philosophy of the late and revered Andrew Mellon."

OIL BREAK FOR DEMOCRAT

—The big Republican oil companies are getting some nice breaks from the Eisenhower Administration, but at least one Democrat is doing all right too. Ed Pauley, close friend and big money raiser for Harry Truman, has secured a guarantee from the U. S. Government that his losses will be reimbursed up to $6,000,000 if he drills for oil in the shaky Kingdom of Jordan, and if Jordan should later expropriate his oil wells. This is about the first time in history an American oil man has secured such a guarantee—especially a Democrat from a Republican administration.

TWO AIR FORCE SECRETARIES—Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, first Secretary of the Air Force, made a strange phone call the other day. He called the present Secretary of the Air Force, Donald Quarles, told him he was planning to make a Senate speech blasting Quarles, then proceeded to read the speech to his intended victim. Quarles agreed with Symington over some details and finally persuaded him to tone down the speech. However, Symington still delivered the speech, accusing Quarles of using phony arithmetic in the Air Force budget.

FUTURE, EXCISE TAXES — GOP leaders have advised like that Congress will probably repeal the 10 per cent excise tax on theatre tickets, effective April 1 of next year. House hearings will begin in about a month on the repealer bill, which also may knock out 10 per cent excises on cosmetics, toilet articles, and transportation. Smalltown theatres hard hit by TV competition are particularly in need of tax relief, the President was told. He said, however, he could not agree to any tax cuts in 1958 until he had an estimate of next year's budget.

Merry-Go-Round

Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin wasn't the only lawmaker who failed to attend the White House reception for Congress. McCarthy wasn't invited. But Roy Wier (D-Minn.), who did receive an invitation, declined in favor of a conservation meeting. He attended the North American Wildlife Conference . . . Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts, featured on the cover of Life this week, has been quietly lining up speaking engagements around the South which turned against Catholic Al Smith in '28. (Looks as if the 1960 campaign has already started). . . . Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has been secretly phoning key Republicans in Congress, trying to block an investigation of the government's monetary policies. The Treasury is now paying twice as much interest on government loans as under Truman. An investigation might be a bit embarrassing.

Isn't the taxicab driver who gets a passenger speedily and safely to his destination entitled to a tip? Such is the question of a taxicab company executive. A very naive query. A man with the ability, courage, patience, intelligence and physical endurance to speedily and safely guide a taxicab through major city traffic is a highly skilled operator. As such he should not be dependent on tips to make it possible for him to enjoy a living wage. He should be paid a good regular salary commensurate with his ability. Why should others in the public transportation field such as bus drivers, railroad engineers, passenger ship skippers and airline pilots be paid good regular salaries, sufficient for the support of their families, and a taxicab driver be compelled to depend on tips to aid in his acquisition of a living wage?

GUIDE TO GUYS

Men born under Pisces (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) are not happy as husbands unless they can completely dominate the domestic scene. They are very partial to clinging vine type wives. They are opposed to wives having careers. They expect perfect home managing. They want all the comforts of a home plus service like a hotel. Pisces men generally do well financially. They know how to make money and how to keep it. Or, so say the stargazers.

CHARACTER

A man's character can be accurately judged by the manner in which he blows his auto horn. If, for example, it is a short blast, indicating he wants to pass, it is quite probable he is a friendly, courteous and considerate fellow. A nice man to know. One who would make a good husband. A long blast reveals a man who enjoys telling people off. The type whose favorite indoor sport is ordering his wife around. The long blast plus several short blasts indicates the "Big Shot" complex. A dictator type. Also probably a blowhard with his mouth as well as his auto horn.

Republicans didn't want Bruce ambassador to West Hitlerberg. He donated one grand to Adlai's premature ambitions.

That's peanuts but not for the elephant.

During Truman's musical interlude Bruce was plenipotentiary portfolio to France. His brief case was equivalent to Ty Cobb stealing second with the bag strapped on his back.

Until he got the Ike okay Bruce's hopes were wetter than a crying towel in the rain. Naturally the picture-window Old Guard don't want Democrats in

The Chronically Depressed Need Understanding

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Everyone has a right to feel blue now and then but it is not normal to be low man on the totem pole day after day. Many of these depressed individuals do not know what is wrong but consult a physician because they feel isolated and misunderstood and are easily upset by things that never bothered them in the past.

Unless the basic disturbance is detected, these persons are likely to be treated for change of life or given stimulants and tonics. Now and then the depression mimics an organic disease with manifestations indistinguishable from asthma, cancer, or a gastrointestinal disorder. But laboratory tests usually are normal and symptoms subside as soon as the basic depression is alleviated.

Mild depression is considered whenever the individual tires easily for no apparent reason or becomes overconcerned about himself. He knows something is wrong because appetite disappears and interest is lost in almost everything he did in the past.

Reading a book is a chore because he cannot concentrate long enough to enjoy the contents. But the mildly depressed often continue to read newspapers, listen to the radio, and watch television.

Many have no difficulty falling asleep. Others may have bad dreams or awaken earlier than they wish. Others cannot get to sleep. Zest for living is lost. The violinist no longer fiddles and the gardener lets the weeds take over. Thoughts of suicide remain vague unless the depression deepens.

These men and women need sympathetic understanding by the physician, who will try to give them an insight into their mental state. Meanwhile, he may prescribe a sedative, a mood changer, or a tranquilizer to boost the patient over the hump.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

All heck broke loose in the little town of Winder, Georgia, one day last spring when Lucy, a big elephant, broke loose from a traveling circus. With the help of most of the local population, Lucy finally was cornered in a barn and chained up. Lucy fell in love with her captor, however. Every time he walked away, she broke the chain and stomped after him.

Police and zoo officials from Atlanta then arrived to take charge. A truck was backed up to Lucy with the rear door wide open, and a patrol car drove behind her to urge her into the truck. The siren's shrill sound brought prompt results.

Lucy flapped her huge ears, and instead of lumbering into the truck, she went into reverse, knocking the patrol car into a pine tree.

Lucy finally walked into the truck of her own accord. The patrol car, however, will never be the same.

Cadets Shake Jinx Golfers Will Ride
Fox To Coach Cats He's Son Of Demon

By C. V. BURNS

ALLEGANY county schools had knocked Frederick High School out of the running for the state cage title nine times before the Cadets finally shook the jinx last Saturday in that 57-56 squeaker over Allegany High School.

Camper quints had turned the trick six times—1932 (48-9), 1934 (36-17), 1937 (32-8), 1950 (60-49), 1953 (87-61) and 1956 (73-62) while Fort Hill bagged three of the games—1938 (53-28), 1939 (51-35) and 1951 (59-55).

Since Homer Brooks took over as cage mentor at Frederick in 1949-50 his teams had suffered seven losses in a row at the hands of District One opponents, including two by Hagerstown 1952 and 1953 and one by Southern of Oakland 1954.

So we can't begrudge Homer one victory after his teams had taken it on the chin for so many years.

JOHN FOX, Potomac State College's new baseball coach, was born in the Pelham Bay section of The Bronx, New York City, where the famous cheers originated. His mother still resides there.

Fox is a 1949 graduate of West Virginia University where he played baseball and basketball. He coached the freshman tossers in 1949.

John was once the property of the Cincinnati Redlegs and did the shortstop for Columbia, S. C., in the Sally League and Tulsa in the Texas League, playing in the minors for four years.

He is regarded as one of the better basketball officials in the tri-state area. At Potomac State he has had charge of the intramural sports program and has assisted Coach Dana Lough in football.

Fox succeeds John Maiden, who revived baseball at Potomac State in 1949 after it had been dormant there for 12 years. Maiden's eight teams won 60 and lost 56 games. The former Ohio U. grid and baseball star is now in New York State.

Potomac State opens its season Friday, April 5, playing host to Kent State University of Ohio in a twin bill at Keyser.

CLARENCE SCHAFER, the old pro from Greene street, now at St. Petersburg, Fla., reports that he saw the Yankees beat the Cardinals, 9-6.

"Harmon made two marvelous catches of drives labeled 'triple,'" he writes. "Bobby Shantz pitched good ball for three innings. Showed a good curve ball."

TO COACH JOHN THOMAS, of Mt. Savage High School: We are quite certain that George Bishields of Mt. Savage High has established a new record for foul shots attempted in the tri-state area.

Looking back the records we can't find any player in recent years with more than 200 or more tries during the regular season.

Bishields has had a total of 239 foul shots in 21 games this season. That's an average of more than 11 per game. He converted 149 of his charity tosses.

SIX MONTHS AGO Old Sea Dog ran in a $1,200 race at Fairgo and won a $700 purse.

Last Saturday the 4-year-old trained by Kenny McLaughlin really stepped into faster company by running in the $10,000 Inaugural Handicap at Lincoln Downs, Rhode Island. He finished sixth in the race won by Oclirock before an opening day crowd of 21,866.

Old Sea Dog had won two races at Bowie before going to New England for the gold rush.

GOLFERS who prefer riding to walking will be given transportation via electric carts at the Cumberland Country Club this year, according to Carroll Boggs, club manager and professional.

Boggs reports the carts are popular at many clubs and he is planning to purchase two or three for use here. The power is supplied by batteries and each vehicle accommodates two persons.

MIKE KASNICK, Shade-Central High School lad, who broke Wilt Chamberlain's one-game scoring mark of 90 by scoring 92 points against Turkeyfoot High (Confluence) is the son of a former Frostburg Demons pitching star of the 1930s.

The high school senior who is 5-11 and tips the beam at 175 holds the PIAA state mark of 41 field goals in one contest, scored 729 points in 24 games for an average of 30.3 and created one-game scoring records of 92, 53, 49, 42 and 36 at five games.

Mike Kasnick, Sr., pitched for Frostburg teams managed by Russell "Mike" Diehl in the old Interstate League.

A siege of arthritis which necessitated a hip operation kept Mike, Sr., from seeing his son perform his record-breaking feats this season.

Canisius Tops West Virginia Cagers, 64-56

Syracuse Winner In NCAA Tourney

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Canisius, combining control, defensive skill and the sharp shooting of Hank Nowak and Joe Leone, whipped West Virginia's Southern Conference champions 64-56 tonight in a first round game in the NCAA's Basketball Championship.

In the opening game of a triple-header which drew some 12,000 spectators into the Garden, Syracuse rallied brilliantly in the closing minutes to turn back Connecticut's Yankee Conference Champions 82-76. Undefeated North Carolina faced Yale in the third game.

West Virginia's All-America Rod Hundley was limited to a single field goal in the first half and Lloyd Sharrar didn't make a basket until 10½ minutes of the second half had passed. Sharrar, the tallest man on the court at 6-10 and most valuable player of the recent Southern Conference Tournament, pulled down very few rebounds. That was about the story of the tournament's first big upset.

Canisius, in complete control from the start, built a 34-18 lead in the first half with Nowak getting half of the Griffins' points.

West Virginia, still 16 points down well into the second half, began to put up a real scrap and Canisius lost some of its poise and its lead dwindled. That was enough to make it a ball game—a rather sloppy one but at least interesting—up to the closing minutes. If Leone, the 6-5 Canisius center, hadn't had a tremendous second half, the Mountaineers still might have pulled it out.

West Virginia slowly whittled the Canisius lead to two points, 52-50, with about five minutes to play. Then Leone wrapped up his sixth and seventh field goals of the half to make it 56-50 and West Virginia never got close again.

Nowak, whose scoring tapered off in the second half, was high man with 19 points, one more than Leone. Hundley, a superb player even in defeat, scored 17 for West Virginia, including nine straight foul shots.

The West Virginia Hot Rod, closely guarded all the time, saw some of his brightest ideas go wrong when cleverly executed passes led only to missed shots by his teammates.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 12 (AP)—Mount St. Mary's of Emmitsburg, Md. and Wheaton (Ill.) College carry the best overall records into the quarterfinals of the new NCAA college division basketball tournament opening on the Evansville College court tomorrow.

Since both of these small college cage powers are at opposite ends of the bracket, many observers look for them to meet for the championship Friday night.

The quarterfinals, including survivors of a 32-team bracket, will start at 2:30 p.m. (EST) with Mount St. Mary's carrying a 20-game winning streak against Rider College of Trenton, N.J.

Mount St. Mary's Mountaineers, Mason-Dixon Conference champions for the fourth straight year have an overall record of 25-4. Rider has 20-6.

The second afternoon game sends the two Far West entries together, San Diego State College (17-9) and Los Angeles State College (18-10).

Greaves And Webb Clash At Chicago

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP)—Spider Webb of Chicago, fourth ranked middleweight contender by the National Boxing Assn., aims for his 19th straight ring triumph tomorrow night against a substitute opponent, Wilf Greaves of Pittsburgh.

Originally, Webb was to meet Randy Sandy, ranked 10th, in the nationally televised and broadcast (ABC, 10 p.m. EST) 10 rounder at Chicago Stadium. Sandy injured his left hand in training Sunday and was forced to withdraw.

Greaves biggest bid to fame so far was throwing a scare into champion Gene Fullmer two months ago at Salt Lake City before losing a split 10 round decision.

Cardinals Win, 12-4

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Wally Moon and Del Ennis hit home runs today as the St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of erratic Kansas City Athletics pitching for a 12-4 exhibition victory.

Murry Dickson, who gave up only one run in the first three innings, was the winning pitcher. Alex Kellner, who yielded a pair of tallies in the same 3-inning stint, was the loser.

Boston Red Sox Defeat Yankees In 13th Inning

Skowron's Stumble Decides 1-0 Game

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12 (AP)—After losing their first three exhibition games, the Boston Red Sox finally won today but needed 13 innings to nip the New York Yankees, 1-0.

The run crossed on a break, third baseman Bill Skowron stumbling after fielding a grounder with the bases full and two out.

Skowron, regular Yank first baseman, was making his first start at third and had played brilliantly prior to the mishap. Catcher Haywood Sullivan hit what appeared to be an inning-ending hopper but Skowron lost his footing as he attempted to run to third base ahead of Ted Lepcio, who was coming down from second. As the fielder floundered, Jim Piersall crossed the plate with the game's only run.

Each side used four pitchers, with Mark Freeman the loser and Bert Thiel, who held the Bombers to one hit over the last four rounds, the winner.

The Yankees made only six hits and only got two men as far as second base against Boston's second-line pitchers: Al Schroll, Leo Kiely, Jack Thomas and Thiel.

Art Dittmar, former Kansas City ace making his debut as a Yankee, Whitey Ford, Bob Grim and Jim

Braves Blank Detroit, 1-0

BRADENTON, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Warren Spahn, Gene Conley and Red Murfitt limited Detroit to two hits as the Milwaukee Braves scored a 1-0 victory over the Tigers in a spring exhibition today. Each pitched three innings.

Spahn gave up a single to Harvey Kuenn in the third inning. Conley a single to Ray Boone in the fourth and Murfitt retired the nine batters he faced in the last three innings.

The Braves registered their run off Wojey in the sixth when Eddie Mathews walked, took second on Wes Covington's sacrifice bunt and scored on Frank Torre's apparent double down the left field line. Torre, however, forgot to touch first base and was called out.

DePalo each fired three blank rounds. Freeman gave up singles to Piersall and Lepcio and walked Ken Aspromonte before Skowron lost his footing and the ball game. The run was only the third in four games for the Hose and their first in 27 innings.

Indians Hand Cubs Fourth Setback, 8-1

TUCSON, Ariz., March 12 (AP)—Scoring seven runs in the first inning, including three on a homer by pitcher Bob Lemon, the Cleveland Indians today defeated the Chicago Cubs 8-1 for their third victory in four games.

A crowd of 2,429 watched the Cubs go down to their fourth straight exhibition defeat. Lemon, the Indians' 20-game winner, limited the Cubs to one hit in the first three innings. Art Houtteman gave up three in three and Don Mossi yielded two in the last three.

The Cubs' only run was a sixth inning homer by pitcher Jim Brosnan.

Site Near Elkins Selected For New Trout Hatchery

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 12 (AP)—The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has selected Bowden Springs in Randolph County as the site for a proposed 45-acre trout hatchery. Director of Sports Fishing Robert H. Johnson announced today.

Johnson said realization of the new hatchery hinges on "acquiring necessary land and other interests."

The proposed hatchery would be located nine miles east of Elkins on U.S. 33 and would be the state's largest.

West Virginia now has five state hatcheries and two federal stocking areas.

The new federal hatchery would be completed within two years.

The Greenland ptarmigan molts three times a year. It has black and yellow feathers in the spring, gray in the fall, and is pure white each winter.

Higher Status Is Asked For Juvenile Court

Sen. See Reports SB 306 Is Dead

A bill to elevate the Juvenile Court of Allegany County to Circuit Court level was introduced in the General Assembly last night by Senator Charles M. See.

The action was taken as the midnight deadline for introduction of bills approached.

Senator See said he introduced the bill in the Senate after he was informed that Senate Bill 306, which would have assured two Circuit Court judges for Allegany County, was dead.

He said the bill last week received an unfavorable report from the Senate Committee on Judicial Proceedings and that he asked the chairman of the committee to defer floor action and hold the bill, in hopes it could be brought out with a favorable report.

Asks Bar To Comment

Members of the committee, he said, yesterday advised that the bill could not be revived.

The senator said he has believed for some time that Juvenile Court should be elevated to a higher status.

He said he will welcome an expression on the plan from the Bar Association of Allegany County.

Senator See yesterday also introduced by request two bills sent to Annapolis by the Allegany-Garrett Dental Society.

He said one of the bills refers to illegal practice of dentistry and the other to dental hygiene.

Statements Mailed

Del. Lester B. Reed, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly, yesterday reported that copies of the joint statement by the Delegation and Sen. See on the proposed bill to correct annuity discrepancies for Allegany County teachers' pensions have been mailed.

Copies of the statement, he said, have been sent to Miss Mary E. Murray, chairman of the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association, and to newspapers.

Study Is Sought

Sen. See yesterday introduced a Senate resolution requesting the Legislative Council to study the possibilities and feasibility of establishing a commission to handle the question of institutions for juveniles in this state.

This would take them from the jurisdiction of the State Department of Public Welfare, Sen. See observed.

The Allegany County senator also declared that the overall supervision of these institutions constitutes a great and far-reaching problem.

They are not getting the proper care and service that they need, he charged.

After some minor amendments, Senate Bill 487 which would place most county employees under civil service, will be moved from the Senate to the House today, he said.

The amendments, he said, are chiefly clarifying, such as corrections in punctuation and spelling, plus a stipulation that the county would not be obligated to continue employment of workers in case any operation were dropped or transferred to the state. He said the clause was a protective item found in federal and state merit laws.

Bids On Bridge Job Opened

George M. Tribbett, State Foundation Company of Manchester, with an estimate of $20,000, was the apparent low bidder yesterday on a contract to replace floors on two existing bridges along George's Creek.

Two firms submitted bids to the Maryland State Roads Commission in Baltimore. David Goldberg and Sons, Uniontown, Pa., bid $24,650.

The two bridges are the Water-cliff Bridge in Lonaconing and the Morrison Bridge in the vicinity of Barton. After the necessary work is completed, maintenance will be taken over by the county roads department.

Somerset Construction Company of Baltimore was the apparent low bidder at $565,508 for building two multiple-span steel beam bridges on the Hagerstown bypass.

Four firms bid on the job to construct the bridges, one 174 feet long over the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, and the other 177 feet long over Maugansville Road.

Discuss State Agency

Robert B. Kimble, chairman of Maryland's Employment Security Board, chats with Arnold Robinson (left) president of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, and Nelson W. Russell, Speakers chairman, at a meeting last night. Mr. Kimble discussed the operations of the Department of Employment Security and its benefits to the economy of Allegany County.

Contribution Of Idle Pay To Area Cited By Kimble

Payments made to Allegany County workers since 1952 through the Department of Employment Security made a valuable contribution to the economy of this area, Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the Employment Security Board, said here last night.

Twelve Acres Scorched In Area Fires

Approximately 12 acres of land was scorched yesterday afternoon in two separate fires that went out of control in the Hinkle Road and Mt. Pleasant Road areas.

Armed with Indian pumps and rakes, some 16 volunteer firemen from three area companies fought the stubborn fires and brought them under control.

A smoldering fire which was started under supervision yesterday afternoon was blamed for the blaze which scorched at least two acres of grass and brush in the Hinkle Road area.

Fight Blaze Two Hours

Volunteers from Baltimore Pike received a call about 1:45 p. m., and were out two hours before getting the flames under control.

Then fire broke out off Mt. Pleasant Road and flames rapidly ate their way up over Burnt Hill and scorched approximately 10 acres. Baltimore Pike volunteers, just back from the other fire, joined firemen from Bowmans' Addition and Bedford Road to fight the blaze.

They used Indian pumps and rakes and also "back-fired" in quenching the flames.

The fire was blamed on a mattress which was being burned and got out of control.

10 Acres Damaged

Harold W. Valentine, a member of the Baltimore Pike volunteers and a forest warden, was on the scene of the Mt. Pleasant Road blaze and said some 10 acres were burned over.

He said brush and timber were burned, and a more serious fire could have resulted if the ground had been drier. No homes were threatened by either fire.

Baltimore Pike volunteers radioed Central Fire Station in Cumberland to notify the district forester's office of the Mt. Pleasant Road blaze.

Consolidation Of Gas Rate Appeals Asked

City, County Want Cases Heard Here

The city and county are requesting that appeals from the gas increase granted by the Public Service Commission to the C & A Gas Company be consolidated and both heard in Circuit Court here.

In a letter prepared yesterday by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, and Gorman E. Getty, attorney for the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, the city and county requested that the Circuit Court of Baltimore City direct the consolidation of pending appeal cases and that both appeals be heard in the Circuit Court of Allegany County.

The gas company, which was granted rate increases by order of the Public Service Commission on November 9, 1956, appealed the order of the commission in the Baltimore City Circuit Court January 4 on the basis that the increase allowed by the commission was insufficient, being considerably less than the amount it requested.

Three days later, the city and county jointly took similar action in the Circuit Court of Allegany County, appealing the decision of the PSC on the basis that there should not have been any increase allowed.

Mr. Finan pointed out, in support of the request for consolidation of the cases here, that all of the company's Maryland customers are in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Mr. Kimble said he is preparing a report to Governor McKeldin on the 18-month period and that it will be presented within the next week or so.

Introduced by Nelson W. Russell, program chairman, Mr. Kimble recalled that Mr. Russell made a similar introduction 25 years ago in Westernport, when Kimble began his political career by running for the House of Delegates.

Former Senator Kimble, who toured the county yesterday, said he was "only temporarily" away from home for his ESB duties in Baltimore.

City Spending Below Par

The City of Cumberland completed two-thirds of its fiscal year on February 28 with 87 per cent of the total levy in, 99 1/2 per cent of the tax levy collected, and with spending running about four per cent below par.

A report on the condition of the levy, prepared yesterday by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, showed collections of $1,439,917.31 toward the $1,654,530 levy made to operate the various city departments and to service the debt.

This left $214,997.31 to be collected by June 30. Most of the income sources were running about on schedule but $41,456.29 received as the city's share of state racing income is $6,543.71 shy of estimates and is "all in," Mr. Gibson reports. Also uncollected is $61,499.62 anticipated from the city's share of state gas and oil taxes and held up by the State Roads Commission.

Collections on the tax levy totaled $1,171,773.99, leaving $5,326.01 uncollected and representing about half of one per cent of the tax levy.

Expenditures for city operations totaled $882,640.32, or 62.8 per cent of the $1,404,826.25 appropriated.

Left for operations during the final four months of the fiscal year was $522,185.93. Most departments were operating within their budgets and some should be able to complete the fiscal year with a slight surplus.

Spent for debt service was $119,601.94, leaving a balance of $30,101.81.

Jurors Unable To Agree On Negligence

Only One Issue Settled In Trial

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury deliberated more than four hours yesterday but was unable to agree as to whether Mrs. Mary Brady Wills of Piedmont, driver of one of two cars involved in a fatal collision was guilty of negligence.

The three women and nine men or the jury informed Chief Judge George Henderson about 4 p. m. that they had agreed on the first issue, that William Joseph Ross, 17-year-old Westernport boy, who was killed in the crash last June 8, was guilty of negligence. The trial started Monday morning.

Young Ross, who was driving north on State Route 495 north of Swanton in Garrett County, was killed in the crash. Mrs. Wills was driving toward Swanton at the time of the accident. She said she saw a car coming at her on the wrong side of the road when she reached the top of a knoll. The two cars collided head on.

On the basis of the decision on the first issue, Judge Henderson entered a judgment nisi in favor of Mrs. Wills in a $2,500 cross-claim John Edwin Ross of Westernport had filed against her as administrator of his son's estate.

Judge Henderson then dismissed the jury. Unless it is settled the case presumably will be retried during the April term of Circuit Court.

Mrs. Wills had brought a $50,000 suit against John Edwin Ross as an individual, his wife, Frances Margaret Ross, and Ross as administrator of his son's estate. She also filed a $35,000 suit against Alvin Frank Pearce of McCoole, owner of the car Ross was driving, and Alvin William Pearce, his son, who had turned over the driving of the car to Ross at Swanton.

Alvin Frank Pearce also has filed a $1,000 cross-claim against Mrs. Wills, which still is a part of the case.

Judge Henderson returned a directed verdict in favor of the elder Pearce in the $35,000 action at the conclusion of the trial. It was established that Alvin Frank Pearce was in California at the time of the accident and had only authorized his family to use his car when they needed it.

Cresaptown Wants To Keep Same Tax Rate

The Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association yesterday requested the Board of Allegany County Commissioners again this year to levy 45 cents on each $100 valuation within the Cresaptown Special Taxing Area.

Returns from this 45-cent levy, which has been in effect during the 1956-57 fiscal year, will be applied to the 1949 bond issue for water services.

The commissioners also received the suggested budget for cooperative Japanese beetle retardation in Allegany County of $1,600, half of which is to be borne by the state and half by the county.

George S. Langford, specialist in insect control at the University of Maryland, submitted the suggested budget to County Agent Joseph M. Steger, who in turn presented it to the county commissioners. It calls for $325 for 350 pounds of milky disease spore dust at $1.50 a pound; $50 for Tiphia wasps, 25 for demonstrations and surveys and $1,000 for labor and travel.

The commissioners also instructed their clerk, James G. Stevenson, to write a second letter to all department heads requesting them to submit their budgets for the 1957-58 fiscal year by March 25 instead of April 1 as originally suggested. The levy must be set on Tuesday, April 16.

Committee Will Meet

The executive committee of Johnson Heights School PTA will meet in the school cafeteria tomorrow at 12:15.

Gephart Second Graders Give Red Cross Boost

A group of second graders at Gephart School, set an example in charity and thoughtfulness a couple of days ago when they decided to make a donation to the Red Cross "to help poor people overseas," instead of holding a party for themselves.

Mrs. Mary Barnard Marple's room was awarded a $5 prize by the Gephart Parent Teacher Association as the room having the most parents at a regular PTA meeting. Mrs. Marple asked her children what they wanted to do with the check.

There was considerable discussion before a vote was taken. In the final tally, six still wanted to have a party, but the rest of the group of 35 wanted to give it to the Red Cross for overseas needy.

A letter was prepared and a committee was selected to take the check and letter to the Red Cross office, where it was presented to Mrs. George W. Legge, executive director.

The letter, neatly written and enclosed in a hand-decorated cover, was composed by members of the class. It follows:

Dear Mrs. Legge,

We want to tell you that we won the check for five dollars. The PTA gave the check to us. We were very happy. We like to help others, so we are going to send it overseas. The people are poor and need help. Will you please send our check where the money is needed the most?

Your Little Friends

Mrs. Marple's Girls and Boys.

Mrs. Legge said she is forwarding the check to the area Red Cross headquarters so it can be used in the refugee or other relief program.

Sylvan Feldstein And Robot Friend

Tin Cans, Wire, Ingenuity Help Student Build Robot

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
News Staff Writer

A bunch of old tin cans, about 100 feet of electric wire, a small electric motor and transformer, some switches, a couple of light bulbs, a loudspeaker from an old radio set, some picture frame wire, a chunk of plywood, and about six weeks of spare time and lots of patience are just about all you need these days to make your own "Man from Mars" robot.

In a recent issue of Boys Life magazine, author Glenn Wagner described how to build "Gismo," the Great, as he named the robot.

Sylvan Gary Feldstein, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Feldstein, 684 Fayette Street, a sophomore at Allegany High School, decided to build the robot.

Always interested in things electrical, and having in his room and basement laboratory a quantity of electrical gadgets of one kind or another, he started to work.

Cans And Wires

He obtained a five-gallon oil can, a five-quart turpentine can, and a 25-pound lard can and started building. The task of removing the paint from the outside of the cans took several afternoons and evenings of scraping, Sylvan said.

Then he proceeded to cut out feet, legs, hands and arms, and rig them with springs and wire to get movement. The task of installing all the necessary wiring was no small project, and a number of circuits had to be worked out.

Upon completion, "the mythical man from Mars" stands almost six feet tall, waves his arms up and down, and through the loudspeaker built into the head, sings songs from a phonograph attachment. With a control panel operated by Sylvan, he answers questions with signals from a buzzer, also inside his head.

His eyes glow brightly as he beats time to music or "goes into his act."

What To Do With Him?

Sylvan says he may take the robot to school to show his science teacher and class, but isn't certain just what he will do with it, now that it is finished. It has been a great source of entertainment for his younger brother Albee Feldstein, age 8 and a student at Mt. Royal Avenue school. Albee insists he helped build the robot because, "I kept handing Sylvan things."

Mr. Feldstein has been getting quite a kick out of the gadget and said many neighbors and friends have dropped in to see it. Mrs. Feldstein's only comment was, "I wish they'd get that thing out of the living room."

"But then again, it is kind of interesting. I am scarcely believe Sylvan built it."

At this point, the eyes lighted up, the music started, the arms began to wave, and Mrs. Feldstein fled to the kitchen.

If anyone wants to build "Gismo The Great," "A Mythical Man from Mars," or any other kind of robot, all you need is some tin can, some wire and a great deal of patience and ingenuity. But it might be a good idea to ask Mother first.

Local Man Is Burned When Pump Explodes

Raymond Alderton, 67, of 6 King Street, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday evening after suffering second and third degree burns on his left arm and leg.

It was reported that Mr. Alderton was tearing down a car in a junk yard when a pump exploded. Attaches reported his condition to be "satisfactory."

Also admitted to Memorial Hospital last night was James C. Wilson, 10, who sustained a fractured right arm while roller skating.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Wilson, of 401 Avirett Avenue.

House Approves Prevailing Wage Measure, 85-19

Possible Added Cost Uncertain

ANNAPOLIS, March 12 (AP) — A requirement that contractors on state jobs pay wages equal to those prevailing in the area was approved today by the House Delegates.

The delegates refused for the second time to sidetrack the bill and passed it over to the Senate with an 85-19 vote. A motion to send the bill to the Ways and Means Committee failed 11-86.

The first such move was made last Friday by the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Del. Boone (D-Balto County). It had come out of the Labor Committee with a favorable report.

Boone today said he "was not particularly anxious to have the bill." Since last week, he said, he had learned that the State Roads Commission "had no idea" if the establishment of a prevailing wage would cost it more money.

Last week, the figure of 23 million dollars was bandied about.

Del. Lee (D-Montgomery) asked the commission if this was true and was told it didn't know for certain.

Completely Satisfied

"If they don't know, certainly the Ways and Means Committee wouldn't know," concluded Boone. Lee said he was "completely satisfied that any estimate would be the purest guess work and the State Roads Commission is candid enough to admit it."

The supposedly extra cost to the State was based on a premise that payment of a prevailing wage would be equal to union wages in an area. Contractors employing non-organized workers would thus be unable to bid lower because of lesser pay, it was assumed.

However, Lee cited an example which indicated the difference might prove to be negligible. He reported that a Maryland contractor with union labor lost a bid on the "huge job" of building approaches to the Chesapeake Bay Bridge by only $400 to an out-of-state contractor with non-union help.

Despite any possible higher cost to the state, Lee said the prevailing wage requirement is a "fairer system for Maryland workers and for Maryland contractors."

The prevailing wage would be determined by a commission composed of two representatives of labor, the attorney general, superintendent of schools, director of public improvements and a state roads commissioner.

Said Unconstitutional

The 1950 General Assembly acted the prevailing wage system but it was declared unconstitutional because it was not considered proper legislation for a 30-day session.

The Senate's major debate at a two-hour afternoon session was over switch blade knives, and it wound up with enactment of a House bill to ban their sale in this state.

The bill squeaked through by a bare constitutional majority, 15 votes for, 11 against and 1 senator passing.

A previous bill enacted at this session and signed by Gov. McKeldin last night puts such knives in the class of concealed weapons.

Sponsors hope the double barreled ban will cut down on the number of knifings and cuttings.

Sens. Turnbull (D-Balto County), Phipps (D - Anne Arundel) and Friend (R-Garrett) were the main spokesmen against the measure. Turnbull said it was "another attempt to legislate conduct of people" which was difficult to do. He said the bill as drawn also would prohibit even a small pen knife of a switch blade type from being legal.

Phipps and Friend also contended its provisions were too broad.

Brunswick Host To FOE Meet

A delegation from Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, is planning to go to Brunswick on Sunday, March 24, when Aerie 1136 there will be host to a district meeting.

Herman L. Myers of Aerie 245, state secretary, said yesterday that State Aerie officers will pay their annual visitation to the Brunswick Aerie that day. He pointed out about six couples are expected to make the trip.

State officers will hold an important meeting at noon, and the district meeting will be called to order at 2 p. m. A social room will be available for the use of the women.

The April state officers visitation and district meeting planned here has been changed from Saturday, April 27, to Sunday, April 28 with the usual schedule to be followed.

Fire Officers Plan Frostburg Meeting

Fire officers of member companies of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet Friday, March 15, at 8 p. m. in Frostburg.

The subject will be "Mutual Aid Inventory and Planning" with Thomas Owens as leader. The subject will be of interest to all fire officers and each company is urged to have representation at the conference.
